

PUREWAWA

"Wa" can mean both "Circle" and "Harmony" in Japanese. The intention of PUREWAWA is to create a pure and safe creative space where the community and families can gather and celebrate so that we might all learn and grow together. Our hope is that by fostering harmony in our circles, in our families and our communities, we might share and spread inspiration through the world. Let this festival be like a pebble in a pond, casting ripples and ever expanding circles out into the world. We invite all children, and all those who remember the openness of childhood to come and share in our circle.

PUREWAWA Festival is voluntarily organized by a diverse network of socially conscious artists and activists from Toronto, who have been drawn together through the inspiration that a better world is truly possible... We would like to say thank you very much for all. We couldn't achievement PUREWAWA with out your help

PLEASE DONATE A CANDLE FOR INTERNATIONAL MEDICAL VOLUNTEERS JAPAN HEART*

Help heal and bring light to the world through charity by taking part in our candle lighting ritual. We urge you and your children to participate in this ceremony, which is planned to take place at 4:30 pm.

All proceeds generated from the sales of these candles will be donated to this year's selected charity, INTERNATIONAL MEDICAL VOLUNTEERS JAPAN HEART. Japan Heart as it's small and donations go directly to the source as little is needed for administration. Speech Yuki Otsuji who is the third generation of atom-bomb survivors.

At the peak of the festival will be the candle ceremony of HOPE where as a community, we focus our intention towards manifesting a peaceful future for generations to come.

*International Medical Volunteers Japan Hart is a NGO led by Dr. Hideto Yoshioka dedicated to Saving lives one child at a time in remote villages in Myanmar.

Bring your families & friends, your idea & creativity, and treats to share for a fun-filled day in the sun!
